VOL. LXV. RICHMOND, VA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1884.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

POURING INTO THE TREASURY. About $10,000 in Coupons Paid into the State Treasury for Licenses for Liquor-Dealers and Others.

In the City Circuit Court yesterday Mr. Wyndham R. Meredith. Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney in coupon cases, made a motion to set aside judgments obtained against the Commonwealth in more tained against the Commonwealth in more than eighty-five coupon suits, brought under Coupon-Killer No. 2.

In arguing the motion Mr. Meredith made the following statement: Some thirty old suits that ante-dated recent legislation on the subject had been compromised by consent of the Auditor of Public Accounts and Atterney General. and Attorney-General. Coupon-Killer No. 2, as amended at the last session of the Legislature, made it the imperative duty of the attorneys for the Commonwealth to appear in all proceedings in any courts of the Commonwealth, under the coupon-killer act of January 20, 1882, to defend the same and to take an appeal if the case or cases should be decided against the Commonwealth. DUTY OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Mr. Meredith further stated that the law provided that any Commonwealth's attorney failing to carry out the provisions of this act should be deemed guilty of mis-demeanor; that Coupon-Killer No. 2 had been further amended at the last session of the General Assembly so as to require that a summons should be issued against the collecting officer, and that the said suits should regularly mature as other ac-Blair] was required to see that attorneys for the Commonwealth did their duty in defending suits; that Mr. Witt had handed it to him [Mr. Meredith], as it had been agreed that he should manage all coupon litigation brought since his [Mr. Meredith's] appointment by the Board of Pub-

ASTONISHED.

Although such letter had been sent them by the Attorney-General, Mr. Meredith was utterly astonished to find that over eighty-five suits had been run through the Circuit Court and judgments often obtained on the same day or the next day by Colonel Maury by consent of the Attorney-General; that some of these judgments had not been paid, and on others the State had paid out over $10,000. Upon examining the record he found in addition that no summons had ever been issued against the collecting officer [Mr. Tinsley] in these cases; that the collecting officer knew nothing about them, and that the judgments obtained in all of these suits were for licenses, although the Legislature had spent six weeks in passing laws pro-hibiting the payment of licenses in coupons, and, strange to say, the fact that such suits were for licenses nowhere appeared in the

HIS MOTION.

Mr. Meredith moved the Court to set aside the judgments in all these cases and to grant an order of restitution on such of them as money had been paid on.

The ground for his motion was that the Attorney-General had no authority to consent to judgment being given in these cases, especially as they had been brought for licenses.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Mr. Blair replied that the Code made it his duty to appear in this court to defend all State cases. He said that he had an agreement with Colonel Maury—made after communicating with the Auditor and sult, and the Richmond friends greatly all State cases. He said that he had an agreement with Colonel Maury—made atter communicating with the Auditor and mention of the matter to the Governo—to compromise certain old suits that had been pending in the court, and he supposed that the right to compromise similarly extended also to new cases; not to license cases, however. He did not claim of their pastor. The representatives of the Petersburg church were greatly disappointed at the result, and the Richmond friends greatly gratified. The latter, having supposed the decision of their pastor, already announced to them, would determine the case, were not aware until the question came before the Presbytery how great was the danger of their losing their pastor. The church Church were present: Major W. Parker, Captain J. Thompson Brown, Sergeant William B. Cogbill, Thomas J. Todd, T. C. Howard, J. T. Williams, D. A. Brown, Jr., John W. Glenn, Dr. Hugh Blair, J. B. Kidd, G. B. Doggett, W. R. Anderson, Dr. John Mahony, E. H. Brown, Jr., John W. Glenn, Dr. Hugh Blair, J. B. Kidd, G. B. Doggett, W. R. Anderson, Dr. John Mahony, E. H. those cases where the judgments has not sweeping trash out of their stores into the been paid. He further explained that he street. had consented to these judgments in view of the fact that Colonel Maury, the counsel for plaintiffs, had agreed with the Auditor in consideration hereof that he (Colonel Maury) would fund securities of the State into new 3's to make it a perfectly safe business proposition for the State. NOT RECOGNIZED.

Mr. Meredith, in reply, declined to re cognize the Attorney-General's right to make any motion in these cases; the ground of his motion to set aside the j dgments was the unwarranted and illegal appearance of the Attorney-General here in these suits. He said that he was aut orized by Mr. Witt to absolutely deny any agreement on his part, except as to cases pending prior to the amendment of Coupon-Killer No. 2. He was further authorized to say by the Auditor, who was then present in court, that he had never consented to any arrangement as to new cases. His consent was as to the old cases, not as to the eighty-five new cases—license cases. As the State had been deprived of over $10,000 of her revenue by methods which, to use the mildest language, were illegat and improper, he claimed the right not only to have these judgments set aside, but as they had been obtained at this term of the court, he asked also for an order of restitution where the money had been paid.

COLONEL MAURY. Colonel Maury said that he had no objection to setting aside the present judg-ments, as there had been a misunderstanding about the agreement. He would hold no man to an agreement made under a mis-understanding, but as to an order of restitution, why that could not be entered was sent on to the grand jury.

Was sent on to the grand jury.

So he could not be restored to his original rights. He claimed that the agree-ment he had made with the Attorney-General and Auditor was so near an even trade that the breaking of it off would in owise disturb him. He made no objec-He had given the State about $35,-000 of her 6-per-cent, indebtedness in con-sideration of her receiving these coupons.

JUDGE WELLFORD. The Court directed the clerk to enter order by consent setting aside the judgments in those cases where the money had not been collected, but as to the money that had been paid he did not consider that he had any authority to grant an order of restitution.

COLONEL MARYE. Auditor Marye said to a representative of this paper, after the parties had left the court-room, that the only agreement he had ever had about these coupons was to acquiforce when these suits were brought having been modified, such actions cannot be brought again. Therefore there is nothing for the Commonwealth to gain by defending them save the delay of the year or so. As the acceptance of my proposal will result in the release of the State from double the amount paid—t. e., the amount of the coupons paid and the amount released by the funding of the other securities—it would seem to be a very desirable exchange for the waiver of the delay.

Will you kindly consider the matter, and after consultation with the Attorney-General let me hear from you as soon as you can? And if the arrangement can be made I would like to carry it out in time to enable me to offer the bonds I will receive in funding to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund for purchase under the Fitzpatrick bill.

Yours, very truly.

The Attorney-General wrote the Auditor

The Attorney-General wrote the Auditor letter similar to this, but he never answered it.

When he found the judgments coming in quite rapidly the Auditor sent to Mr. Tinsley to know how it was. Mr. Tinsley answered that they were for old suits. Subsequently the truth was discovered by Mr. Tinsley and the Auditor, and as soon as the Attorney-General came back from Chicago Mr. Meredith moved in the matter.

was the call of the Tabb-Street church for the pastoral services of the Rev. Peyton H. Hoge. Seven commissioners came over from Petersburg to urge the claims of that church. Three of these—Mr. J. C. Riddle, Colonel Charles F. Collier, and Mr. O. B. Morgan—presented a strong plea for the removal of the pastor of the Fourth church of this city to Petersburg. Mr. G. S. Cook, elder of the E. Collier, and Mr. G. S. Cook, elder of the E. Collier, and R. G. S. Cook, elder of the E. Cook of this city to Petersburg. Mr. G. S. Cook, elder of the Fourth church, and the Rev. Dr. Hoge, who had been requested by a vote of the congregation to represent them before the Presbytery, presented in strong light cogent reasons why the pas-tor should be retained in his present charge. Mr. Hoge stated that whilst he was clearly of the opinion that it was best for him to remain in Richmond, yet he would act by the advice of the Presbytery. When this announcement was made, and it was known that some of the leading members of the Presbytery thought it best that he should go to Petersburg, great anxiety was felt as to what would be the result. The Rev. Dr. Pryor presented a very strong argument in favor of his transfer to Petersburg. The Rev. Dr. Ar astrong took the same side of the question and advised that the young brother should accept the call tendered him. The final action, however, after full discussion, was simply to place the call in Mr. Hoge's hands without advice. This left the whole decision with himself, and he thereupon stated that, after hearing all that had been said on the subject, he saw no reason to change the decision he had already reached, and therefore declined to

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

TRENTON, N. J., June 10.—McCormick, the Trentons' new pitcher, formerly of the Cincinnatis, lost the game to the Virginias to-day. He was in the box the first three innings, in which time he sent four men to bases and pitched very wildly, and the visitors, although they made one hit (a three-bagger by Johnston), tallied 8 runs. Williams was then brought in from left field, and pitched a very good game, but field, and pitched a very good game, but it was up-hill work, and although the Trentons hit Doyle pretty lively in the seventh and eighth, they found the visiseven and eighth, they found the visi-tors' lead too much for them. Five hun-dred spectators heartily applauded Nash when he caught a liner from McCormack's bat in the sixth. Smiley and Powell made a clever double play. It was an off day for Ford, who made several fumbles and bad throws. Shay caught Doyle in good style, and Doyle was quite effective. Mc-Cormack struck three men.
